Volume 1, Issue 5

One of the most important parts of studying is review. Here is an activity for students to review key concepts for a test or for a course concept for a culminating activity.

Students or the instructor write a concept on a card with the answer. Instructor could have students prepare the cards and ask that they address course concepts which cause them the most grief. Each student should have one card.

Quiz-Quiz-Trade

Step 1: Learners get in pairs.

Step 2: Learner #1 quizzes Learner #2. Learner #2 answers. Learner #1 replies with a bit of coaching if Learner #2 needs some assistance or replies with a praise if Learner #2 is correct.

Step 3: Learners both switch roles. Repeat.

Step 4: Learners trade cards.

Step 5: Learners go their separate ways to look for another learner in which to pair up. Repeat several times.
